• Agenda
  o Reporting
  o Process for Reporting
  o Process for Assessing Complaints
  o Support for Employees
  o What OICRC Does & Does Not Do
  o Assessing Complaints
  o Support for Employees

• Prohibited Discrimination and Retaliation Policy
  o This policy applies to students, employees, and other members of the campus community
  o It sets forth all protected characteristics under university policy, defines prohibited conduct, including discrimination, harassment, and sexual harassment, and expressly prohibits retaliation against those who file a formal complaint or participate in a formal university process.
  o The Office of Investigations and Civil Right Compliance investigates reports of discrimination and retaliation based on the protected characteristics: Age (18+), Marital/Family Status Ancestry, National/Ethnic Origin, Citizenship, Pregnancy/Related Conditions, Color, Race, Disability (physical/mental), Religion, Expunged Juvenile Record, Service in Uniformed Services, Gender, Sex, Gender Expression, Sexual Orientation, Gender Identity, Use of Protected Leave, Genetic Information, Veteran Status.

• Two Forms of Discrimination
  o Differential Treatment -treating someone differently and less favorably than others on the basis of protected status/characteristics.
  o Disparate Impact - a neutral rule that treats everyone equally in form but has a disadvantageous effect on some people of a protected characteristic compared to others.

• Hostile Environment Harassment
  o Behavior that treats people differently on the basis of a protected characteristic and that is sufficiently severe or pervasive that it interferes with work or academic activities and creates an intimidating, hostile or degrading working environment, and where the conduct would have such an effect on a similarly situated reasonable person.
  o The more severe the conduct, the less pervasive it need be. NOTE: When alleged conduct consists solely of words, the University must consider free speech rights in evaluating a complaint. Language that targets individuals based on identity is of greater concern (e.g., racial epithet directed at a person).

• Employee Reporting
  o The Prohibited Discrimination and Retaliation policy identifies employees reporting obligations:
    - Designated Reporters: must report disclosures of all forms of discrimination and harassment (not just sex/gender) to OICRC/TIX office
      - Department Heads
      - Complete list of job titles on OICRC website
      - All Designated Reporters are Campus Security Authorities under Clery
- Confidential Employees:
  - Medical staff, including counselors, Care and Advocacy Program staff in Dean of Students Office

- Assisting Employees: all other employees
  - May keep information disclosed by students private
  - Most faculty and staff

- Child Abuse Reporting
  - All UO Employees

- Supporting University Communication and Policies
  - Respectful Workplace Notice
  - Community Standards Policy
  - Conflicts of Interest and Abuses of Power: Sexual, Physically Intimate, and Romantic Relationships with Students
  - Mandatory Child Abuse Reporting
  - Under Clery, Campus Security Authorities, including Department Heads, must report crimes that occur on UO owned/controlled property to clery@uoregon.edu

- Setting Expectations - What OICRC Investigates:
  - It is not enough for someone to be a member of a protected class. The incident must have occurred because of their identity.
  - OICRC staff will not tell people they are right. They will listen to them, take their concern seriously, and assess the information they provide to determine whether a policy may have been violated.
  - The fact that a policy was not violated does not mean that nothing will happen in response to their complaint. Most of the concerns addressed by the university are not at a policy violation level.
  - OICRC staff do not make employee termination decisions. They gather information and decide whether a policy was violated. Nothing more.
  - Not all complaints that reference a protected status will result in an investigation. Most won’t. So, if you receive a report of discrimination or harassment, it is helpful for you to let folks know that their concern will be taken seriously, that someone will reach out to them, and that the university is often able to resolve concerns without opening a formal investigation.

ADA updates
Celia Nittmann, ADA Coordinator and Assistant Director, Employee & Labor Relations

- ADA Coordinator
  - Celia is now responsible for the university’s accommodation process, and she will be working with HR Partners and supervisors to support this process
- Disability Philosophy
  - “Doing disability all day long can be an exhausting process. I don’t mean having an impairment… I mean having to spend a significant part of each day dealing with a physical world which is historically designed to exclude me, and, even more tiring, dealing with other people’s preconceptions and misconceptions about me.” Lois Keith
  - Diverse viewpoints foster understanding and innovation, and accommodations help advance our institutional goals of equity and inclusion
- ADA Protections cover:
  - Employees with disabilities
    - Full-Time employees
    - Part-Time employees
    - Temporary employees
    - Student employees
  - Applicants with disabilities
  - Members of the public with disabilities participating in university events or programs
- Workplace Accommodation
  - Workplace accommodation is any change in the work environment or in the way things are customarily done that enables an individual with a disability to enjoy equal employment opportunities.
    - Accommodation = Exception
  - Formal accommodations consider disabilities, pregnancy related disabilities, and sincerely held religious, moral, and ethical beliefs
  - The university is committed to providing reasonable workplace accommodations to employees with disabilities and is committed to engaging in a good faith interactive process
- When Are We Put on Notice?
  - When an employee references a medical concern or limitation in relation to their job duties or performance. No magic words or phrasing is needed. This information is notice
  - The employee does not need to:
    - … say “I need an accommodation.”
    - refer to their medical condition as a “disability”
    - mention the ADA
  - It is important to be responsive knowing people typically hesitate to ask.
- Confidentiality and Accommodation
  - The ADA’s confidentiality provision does not permit management to tell coworkers that an employee with a disability is receiving a reasonable accommodation
  - Who should be privy to their request?
    - Only the decision makers associated with implementing the accommodation
  - Unless an employee has chosen to disclose their medical information, the department will not be informed of any health information during the accommodation process

- The Accommodation Process
The accommodation process is an interactive process administered by the Accommodations Coordinator. This includes responsibility for determining whether:
- An employee’s medical condition is a disability; and
- A requested accommodation is reasonable

When Should Accommodation Go Through the Formal ADA Process?
- Is this an accommodation the department would implement for anyone that asked?
  - If the answer is “Yes” - move forward with the implementation of the accommodation without going through the formal ADA process
  - If the answer is “No” - Direct the employee to the necessary resources to engage in the ADA process

Performance & Workplace Accommodations
- Accommodations should not reduce performance standards or permanently eliminate the essential functions of their job
- Performance concerns should be documented thoroughly and consistently and managed accordingly
- For support on performance management, please reach out to uoelr@uoregon.edu

Document, Document, Document
- It is always in your best interest to document discussions with employees about their needs in this process
- Follow-up with an email to confirm your understanding and ask if there is anything you missed in the conversation
- Send ADA resources via email for confirmation we have responded when put on notice
