

Student Wage Rates

July 1, 2017 through June 30, 2018

In addition to a new standard minimum wage rate increase effective July 1, 2017, two additional rates will apply to employers in Oregon. Employers located in the urban growth boundary of a metropolitan service district will have a separate rate (currently only Portland metro area), and employers located in certain “nonurban” counties will also have a separate wage rate.

Students must be paid at least minimum wage. Any wage rate over $16 must be approved in advance by the Senior Recruiter in Human Resources. Requests should be made via email, including the student name and UO ID number.

Individual departments may set specific wage schedules for their operations. A well-written and updated position description is the basis for determining student-employment pay rates. Supervisors, managers and administrators are encouraged to consider the complexity of the student work and the skills, knowledge, certifications, etc. required to perform a job when determining wage rates for student positions. In addition, supervisors should consider the issue of pay equity with current student incumbents. Departments are encouraged to establish criteria for student employee wage increases based on good performance and/or months of service.
